

Disability:IN Procure Access

What is Procure Access?

A business-to-business initiative that brings together companies to advance accessible procurement in the private sector.

What happens when companies procure inaccessible technology?

- Disabled employees and customers cannot use technology products or services.
- Risks employee and customer exclusion and dissatisfaction.

Who is impacted?

Employees, job applicants, customers, and members of the public.

#ProcureAccess Drives Access.

What is Procurement?

The method of discovering and purchasing goods, technology, products, or services from an external source.

The Statement:

Signatories commit to shared goals:

- Prioritize accessible procurement.
- Include people with disabilities in design, development, and procurement.
- Transparency.
- Advance accessible procurement globally.

Who is part of Procure Access?

Companies – technology buyers, sellers, and those that are both – wherever they are on the accessible procurement journey.
